Tadiran Telecom Recognized as Growing Government Supplier

Port Washington, NY Feb 16, 2004 Tadiran Telecom has recently been awarded the Washington Technology's "Fast 50 Award" for being one of the 50 fastest growing companies selling in the government space. From 1998 to 2003, Tadiran increased their government revenue by 51.7 percent.

Washington Technology has been a national newspaper for government IT systems since 1986. Reaching more than 40,100 business executives, they deliver news that is essential to companies who provide specialized technical services to the government. The newspaper is published bi-monthly, featuring the latest business contracts, government initiatives, case studies and the most recent technology news.

The "Fast 50 Award", granted by Washington Technology, helps technological companies as well as government executive's view where they stand in the marketplace. The companies listed for the Fast 50 Award were ranked based on the growth of their government federal, state and local revenue from 1998 to 2003.

The requirements for companies to be eligible were to have a minimum of $100,000 in government revenue in addition to meeting the federal government criteria for a small business or be a member of the 8(a) program. Eligible companies submitted their government revenue numbers, along with a statement verifying that the numbers are correct.
